Jobs are expanding in area

Total Quad-City area employment rose, in effect, today with the resumption of auto frame production at the A. O. Smith Corp. plant, where a four-week shutdown for the annual model changeover has been completed.

And the resumption of work at Smith's Granite City plant may trigger other industrial activity.

John A. Leschen, vice president-sales of Granite City Steel, views the 1976 model year production of frames for General Motors full-size autos as an encouraging sign. Steel for such frames is made at Granite City Steel.

Gateway leaders ok port project

Political leaders on the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council gave their endorsement last week to plans by the Tri-City Regional Port Authority to grade and fill a portion of the port property on the riverfront and to install a water distribution system.

The work will be financed with a $120,000 grant by the Department of Economic Development and $30,000 from port funds. The new water main will provide water service for clients at the port and for fire protection services.

Drug stores, poor people face problem

By GARY KERBEL
Press-Record Staff Writer
Illinois Public Aid recipients in the Quad-Cities may have to pay for prescriptions they normally get free because many local druggists say they can no longer afford to dispense the prescriptions to persons on welfare.

The pharmacists say new state policies, which went into effect Friday, will reduce their profit margin by about half. The old guidelines allowed the druggists to mark-up the cost of the drug 30 per cent on the bills the pharmacists sent to the state for reimbursement of drugs dispensed to persons on public aid. A $1.35 professional fee also was allowed on each prescription.

The new policy permits druggists to be reimbursed for the wholesale cost of the drug, but doesn't allow the mark-up and gives the pharmacist $1.75 for each prescription he fills. The druggist, therefore, will earn as much filling a $2 prescription as he will filling a

Levee layoffs

Three employees in the Quad-City area of the East Side Levee and Sanitary District will be laid off Friday because the district has exhausted all available funds.

District President Jack Scoville who ordered the layoffs said the district has received no tax funds from St. Clair County this year, and while a $68,000 tax distribution is expected from that source within a week, "it won't help much."

He said that all tax money received from both the Madison and St. Clair County areas of the district must be applied to the district's tax anticipation debt which totaled $650,000 for this fiscal year.

William "Mike" Ebersold, mayor of Venice and a member of the levee district's five-man board of trustees, said only three men were laid off of the Madison County payroll because this area has only a small complement of workers compared to those in St. Clair County. Ebersold said the layoffs at the district's Granite City garage and warehouse leaves this area with eight employees, including one foreman.

Gasoline costs to increase

Gasoline users in the Quad-City area can expect a three to four-cent increase in gasoline by independent stations within a week, according to Walter E. Weigand, head of the Mid-America Gasoline Marketers Association.

Mid-America, through independent dealers, represents nearly 2,000 service stations in the metropolitan area, with 400 stations on the Illinois side of the river, Weigand said.

Earl Buenger, president of the Quad-City Gasoline Dealers Association, said, "I am sure the independents will be going up two to three cents in price. They are between five and six cents lower than the major brand stations now. I am sure the oil companies are going to raise their prices to the independents and they in turn, when it happens, will have to pass the raise on to the customers."

Buenger, who operates a Conoco station at 2504 Nameoki Road, said, "I am not sure what the major oil companies will do. You can never tell, and it is hard to guess which way they will go."

Joe Stroyoff, owner and operator of a Shell station in Madison, said today, "It's sure speculation on my part, but I can see another raise soon. When Shell raised three cents on July 1, they told us they could go up another four cents legally."

"Before the controls go off in September, there will be raises. You can bet on it. After the controls go off who knows?"

"I think we will see a lot of people cutting back on their automobile use and small stations forced to close down. Everytime there is a raise, the gallonage goes down."

Congress has approved a bill to extend controls on oil for six months after the scheduled Aug. 31 expiration date; but, spokesman for President Ford indicate he will veto the extension.

Charles Harrison, a local dealer for Atlantic-Richfield said, "I look for the prices to go sky high. Then people will cut down on their buying. The companies will have an excess of gasoline and I think we will begin to see, after about six months, a lot of gas wars."

Madison Fire Chief Eldon Rhoads, with hand on hip, said the cause is unknown, but was believed to have been caused by children, according to a neighbor. Value and ownership of the house was not known, Rhoads said.

Tavern closed

The liquor license of The Wine Shop, commonly known as Big Jim's Tavern, 1112 State St. in Madison, was revoked and the tavern ordered closed Thursday afternoon following a Third Circuit Court ruling upholding previous action of the Illinois State Liquor Control Commission.

Chief of Police Frank Dutko of Madison said the order became effective at 4:40 p.m. Thursday and that he had instructed Madison police officers that the tavern was to cease doing business.

Mayor Mike Siskiy ordered the tavern closed June 24, 1974, but legal appeals by the tavern operator, Jenny Huey, delayed the closing until Thursday.

A ruling of the Third Judicial Circuit Court upheld the ruling last February by the Illinois Liquor Control Commission which denied a petition by the tavern owner for a rehearing of Mayor Siskiy's shutdown order.

As the result of a police raid in which Jenny Huey and two other women were arrested on prostitution charges—the basis of the mayor's original order that the tavern be closed—the indictment was returned by the Madison County Grand Jury last April against the tavern operator.

It charged pandering, keeping a place of prostitution and soliciting for prostitution. The indictment also charged that she arranged a meeting between a 19-year-old woman residing in the 1100 block of State Street and an undercover Madison County Deputy sheriff on June 24, 1974, for purposes of prostitution and that she allegedly permitted use of the tavern premises for prostitution.

Study impact of grain sale on food costs

By EDWARD NEILAN
Press-Record
Washington Bureau

Will overseas grain sales boost food prices in Madison County despite this year's bumper crops?

The long-standing world record for obfuscation—held jointly by several federal government bureaucracies—may be broken before the current round of grain sales to the Soviet Union is over.

What is the farmer, housewife, taxpayer and voter to believe out of all the doubletalk that is coming out of the Department of Agriculture and other government agencies?

One day a supposedly responsible government spokesman says that "food prices will not go up" as a result of the grain sale.

The next day, an equally high-ranking government official hedges a bit and says "Well, maybe there will be a slight increase in prices."

How much grain is going to be sold to the Soviet Union?

Based on that amount to be sold, what will be the effect on prices at the supermarket?

Those are relatively simple questions and reasonable enough.

Yet, in phone calls around Washington, no one seems to have the answers.

The impression begins to sink in—perhaps erroneous, but as yet undisputed—that the Soviet Union will be sold all the grain it wants and the people in the marketplace—who and me—will have to take the consequences.

Swimmer hurt

A 17-year-old Granite City youth who dove into a shallow backyard swimming pool was injured seriously at 8:30 p.m. Thursday.

Ricky Parks, 19, of 2007 Circle Drive, was swimming with two friends at a pool at 701 Twenty-eighth St., a private residence, when he reportedly dove from a garage roof into the water which was about four feet deep.

He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital with injuries to the neck and spine and numbness in both arms. He was transferred to Firms Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

The youth's companions reportedly caused Parks to believe the water was too shallow, but said he dove into the pool anyway and then lay motionless in the water.

Parks was pulled from the pool by his friends who summoned the ambulance and police officers.

Congressman cites reduction of taxes

Congress has recessed until after Labor Day. Its 1975 performance thus far receives high marks from the local congressman.

"Continuing the trend begun at the beginning of the 94th Congress, the House of Representatives has truly shown—in this first fiscal quarter—progress in attaining its goal of an open and democratic government," Cong. Melvin Price (Dem., 23rd Ill.) told the Press-Record today.

Price's remarks came after the U.S. House and Senate worked around the clock to clear pending legislation for the August recess.

"When this session began in January, I characterized it as one which would be action-oriented," Rep. Price continued.

"The American people faced a bleak future economically and internationally at that time. We came to the 94th Congress in January with a mandate from the people to do all we could to help them."

"I think Congress has answered that mandate, showing itself to be both responsive and responsible to those who elected us."

Congress has cut taxes by a net $22.8 billion, including cash rebates, and reduced withholding taxes in the weekly paycheck of every worker by $1.6 billion of jobs programs—including $1.6 billion for public service jobs, $500 million for construction and $119 million for college work-study grants—have been passed into law.

Another $473 million summer jobs bill. "Another 200,000 jobs were created under the Local Public Works authorization. And unemployment benefits have been improved and extended," the veteran legislator said.

"Nor has Congress forgotten those who are unable to work; 35 million Social Security beneficiaries received an 8 per cent increase in July. And a $1.6 billion, four-year Older Americans Act will provide needed services to this important segment of our society."

"Increased food stamp prices have been prohibited, benefiting 12.6 million food stamp recipients. And Congress has also increased benefits to veterans of the armed forces who have been disabled by service-connected injuries."

"In the field of education, Congress passed a bill authorizing $2.62 billion for the Health Services and Nurse Training programs, overriding a Presidential veto by an overwhelming margin."

"Still awaiting override action are the Elementary and Secondary Education appropriations vetoed earlier by the President."

"I have noted only a few of the most important bills which have been acted upon by Congress," Rep. Price concluded.

"The state of the nation's economy has, of course, been a main concern to us. But we have not forgotten other issues—health, education and energy—the solutions to which are vital for the continued growth of this nation as a world power."

"We in Congress will continue in the final half of this session to achieve final and lasting solutions to the problems which our nation faces."

Howlett has demanding job

SPRINGFIELD — Should you, any time soon, want to sell a security, get a set of auto license plates, have your firm chartered as a corporation, take a book from the state library, obtain a driver's license, complain about the kinds of flowers on the statehouse lawn, or get a look at the great seal of Illinois, you're going to have to go — at least in effect — to one man.

As Illinois secretary of state, Michael J. Howlett has the ultimate responsibility for all these functions, plus a batch more, a busy distinction which apparently brings his office into more personal contact with the state's citizenry than any other secretary of state in the nation.

Reflecting the wide range of a secretary's duties in different states, Alaska and Hawaii find they don't need one at all, and they don't have one.

Of the continental United States, according to Clyde Miller, president of the national association of secretaries of state and himself the Utah secretary, the majority have limited constitutional responsibilities which usually are largely limited to names, accepting filings for corporations, trademarks and trade names, registering notaries, operating uniform commercial codes and keeping the state seal. Generally, they often serve as the state's chief election officer as well, Miller says.

According to the Illinois blue book, in addition to most or all of the above, Secretary of State Howlett has the responsibility for issuing motor vehicle titles, administration of safety and financial responsibility laws, issuing corporate charters and certificates of authority, registration of securities dealers, brokers, agents, solicitors and investment advisers, regulating the sale of securities issues, enforcing the state's securities law, retention of filings reflecting security interests of creditors' financial businesses on the basis of secured transactions, administration of the state archives and the state records act as well as the state library, registering trademarks, and responsibility for the care and maintenance of the Capitol complex buildings and grounds.

Since assuming the secretary's office over two and a half years ago, Howlett, who previously served as state auditor, has streamlined operations to carry out the office's multiple functions with a total of 404 less employees over all, at a saving of $7,499,966, for the period between Jan. 1, 1973, and the end of April of this year.

That $7 million, according to a spokesman in Howlett's office, would build seven miles of highway today's cost of $1 million a mile.

At the start of May, the secretary's office had 3,697 permanent employees, down from the 4,086 working for the office when Howlett took over in January, 1973.

In that same month, staff reductions began, with the dismissal of 25 employees. The savings were figured on the basis of the employees' mean salaries plus fringe benefits which amounted to 21 percent of the gross pay amount.

Since then, the average employee salary has gone from $883, plus benefits valued at $143, to the present $949, plus $117 in benefits. The benefits include contributions to Social Security or the retirement system, vacation, sick and personal days (a total of 26 a year), and paid state insurance, but holidays were not figured in the totals.

Jobs

of 1975 sales, with customers coming back in the red picture in August," Leschen comments.

"Galvanized items were the first ones to fall off when the steel slump began. The fact that they have improved should mean that orders for other products will follow suit."

"There are increased tonages on the order books for roofing materials and for agricultural flat galvanized sheets."

"Plates and hot rolled steel were low in July, but we should see a steady improvement during the remainder of 1975."

Unemployment dropped in July in the bi-state metropolitan area to 8.5 percent or 85,800 from June's 9.1 percent or 93,500 persons.

Nationally, July brought a decrease in jobless to 8.4 percent, compared to 8.6 percent in June.

One of the main areas of saving, and personnel reduction, the spokesman said, was Howlett's closing of a number of driver's license examining stations. Though the closings brought cries of protests from many areas, the centers services were replaced, at a saving of money and manpower, with mobile units which bring the service into the community on a rotating basis.

According to the Federation of Tax Administrators, as of Jan. 1, 1974, only in Illinois, Maine, Michigan and Minnesota did the secretary of state have the responsibility of administering motor vehicle taxes. In all other states these funds were handled by, generally, the department of revenue or a special division of motor vehicles.

In 1973, the last year for which figures were available, the total number of autos, buses and trucks registered in Michigan was in the same general volume as Illinois, (both above five million), Maine had only 564,782 vehicles of all kinds registered, and Minnesota, with something over two million, had only about half the Illinois volume.

While Howlett also has responsibility for the Capitol buildings and grounds, including the colorful flower beds which flank the building on each side, as Secretary, Howlett "got out of the florist business" by discontinuing the greenhouse operation and where plants were produced for the grounds — and "personal gifts" by some state officeholders to groups and individuals at Christmas and Easter. The building itself, which needed extensive and expensive repairs, was torn down and the staff let go or reassigned. The secretary's office now contracts with a private greenhouse wholesaler to provide all plants used on the grounds — at about one-tenth the cost of the earlier operation.

Extend deadline for impact data on Alton locks project

The St. Louis District, U. S. Army Corps of Engineers has extended the time for submission of comments on the draft supplement of the final environmental impact statement for Locks and Dam No. 26 replacement on the Mississippi River near Alton. Comments previously were requested by Aug. 5. However, due to requests from various organizations, the submission date has been extended to Sept. 10. The extension, granted due to the complexity of the supplemental impact statement, will provide 37 days of review time in addition to the minimum prescribed time of 45 days.

The draft supplement will be undergoing a concurrent review at the Washington level but will not be finalized until all comments that have been submitted within the extended review period have been received. After receipt of comments by Sept. 10, the environmental statement will be finalized and transmitted through normal channels to the Council on Environmental Quality.

Requests received for an additional public meeting are under active consideration, and

Robbery charged D. R. Robertson dies suddenly

Two counts of armed robbery and one charge of attempted robbery are contained in an indictment returned by the Madison County Grand Jury Thursday against Rick McCarter and Terry Smith, both of 632 Bend Road, and Vicki Waters, 1715 Maple St.

An effort to revive the Metro-East Regional Treatment Association (MERTA), an arewide governing system for secondary sewage treatment, is planned in a meeting Wednesday by the Southeastern Metropolitan and Regional Planning Commission. MERTA has been inactive because East St. Louis, Sauget and an East Side Levee and Sanitary District group (including Venice and Madison) were unable to agree on administration of a program to provide sewage treatment.

Representatives of the Madison County Housing Authority and the Madison County Board are to meet Wednesday to discuss a plan by the housing authority to buy the county's shelter care home on which to build a public housing complex for the elderly. The authority is seeking the County Board's approval to purchase (anywhere from three to 10 for older children). Cards read: "a vine," "a meadow," "field gone to seed," "Queen Anne's lace," etc. for small children; "white-green," "green-leaved young tree," "a green slope cleared of trees," "soft grass laced with flowers," etc. for older children. I make up my cards, using poetry, prose and observation as sources. It is played like a treasure hunt. It can last one day or a week for older children, when the cards get increasingly complex. Prizes, of course, for the winners.

INDOOR BASKETBALL Place empty wastebasket in corner. Players stand 10 feet away and must place tennis ball in basket with just one bounce. Variation: throw cards into basket. This can be played by one person.

LOCKHEED AIRCRAFT CORP. said last week that it has paid about $22 million to "foreign officials and foreign political organizations" during the past five and a half years. The disclosure was made in a quarterly earnings report by the company, which has been under investigation by the Securities and Exchange Committee and the subcommittee on mutual and corporate of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee.

Bishop Joseph A. McNicholas will be installed as bishop of the Springfield Diocese in ceremonies at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Springfield at 4:30 p.m. Sept. 3. He will replace Bishop William O'Connor, 72, who is retiring after 26 years in the post. The Springfield Diocese extends from the Springfield area south through Madison County. Bishop McNicholas has served 26 years as a priest, the last six as auxiliary bishop of the St. Louis Catholic Archdiocese.

A $31.2 billion military weapons authorization bill was rejected by the U.S. Senate last week in a 48-42 vote which marked a victory for budget committee members who have urged Congress to hold the line on spending. The House failed to act on an energy bill as both houses recessed until Sept. 3.

U. S. Transportation Secretary William T. Coleman said Thursday daylight saving time has had a modest benefit on energy conservation, traffic safety and violent crime reduction. He urged that it be continued at least until 1977.

Richard Haney, Salem, Ill., has announced his intention to resign as a member of the Southern Illinois University board of trustees "to avoid any legal complications" resulting from an attorney general's opinion that the state Board of Education lacks the right to have a representative on the board. How to cure those summer doldrums

By JUNE GALLAGHER

The summer doldrums may already have begun in your neighborhood. Even if they haven't, it's only smart to have a few tricks up your sleeves for rainy days. The following suggestions include rainy day quiet and action activities. Some are ideas I've used or planned; others are through the courtesy of John Lippold's "Program Guide" for the Fox Valley Park District.

KNOW YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD. This can also be played when on a vacation trip and was originated by me for car trips. It can be played at most any age level. Each child gets as many 3 x 5 cards as he can (intellectually) handle (anywhere from three to 10 for older children). Cards read: "a vine," "a meadow," "field gone to seed," "Queen Anne's lace," etc. for small children; "white-green," "green-leaved young tree," "a green slope cleared of trees," "soft grass laced with flowers," etc. for older children. I make up my cards, using poetry, prose and observation as sources. It is played like a treasure hunt. It can last one day or a week for older children, when the cards get increasingly complex. Prizes, of course, for the winners.

MINUTE. Children sit quietly in a circle and count what they think is a "minute." Each jumps up as he feels when he thinks "time's up." Clock watcher names the winner. (The trick is to say "Mississippi" after each number.)

CHAIR LEG TOSS. Turn a straight-back chair upside down and throw rings (rubbers from pressure jars) over legs. Each leg can be marked to score different points.

PAPER BAG DRAMATICS. Form partners with about six children and give each a bag filled with items. Give them about five minutes to make a skit. For younger children, a bag could hold mittens, carrots, a small jacket with big buttons, farmer's hat or overalls for "Peter Rabbit."

DRAW A MOOD. Each child gets a paper and pencil. Each calls out the mood word: happy, sad, funny, angry, thirsty. Children draw quick pictures to describe. Hold an art show of winner's pictures pasted on colored cardboard. Cut pictures out before pasting on boards.

BACK TO BACK. (New version of Musical Chairs.) Children take partners and stand back to back with elbows locked, except the one who is "It." He calls "All change" and each player runs to seek a new partner and back elbows with him. Loser is "It."

That reminds me, do children play "Run Sheep Run" and "Coppers and Robbers" anymore? When we were young, the whole neighborhood was out at nighttime after supper playing games until dark.

My own children were recently discussing the various calls and whistles the mothers used to call their young. I recall that they could hear my clarion call from any corner of the block. Develops one's lungs to bursting.

Ask IRS

Q. Is unemployment compensation taxable?

A. Whether your unemployment compensation is taxable depends on the source. Social Security benefits, paid monthly or in a lump sum from the Federal government or a State under the Federal program, are not taxable. If you are receiving benefits from a State under the Federal unemployment Trust Fund, it is not taxable. If you were a Federal employee and receive unemployment compensation, it is not taxable.

Payments by a State to a State employee, not covered by the State's unemployment compensation laws, under a collective bargaining agreement, comparable to those under the State's compensation laws, are taxable.

Unemployment benefits from a fund to which you contribute voluntarily, whether union or nonunion-established, are taxable to the extent they exceed the amount contributed.

Supplemental unemployment benefits received from a company financed supplemental fund are taxable, as are such benefits received directly from an employer.

$550 THIEF FROM HOME

The old system permitted the druggists to increase his profit as the cost of the drug increased.

About 100 pharmacists from across the state met in Collinsville Friday and decided they could not afford to work under the new state guidelines.

About 100 pharmacists in this group were from Madison and St. Clair counties.

The druggists were told that four Chicago pharmacists are suing the state because of the new guidelines. Those four also tried to get an injunction temporarily stopping the state from implementing the guidelines.

The temporary injunction was denied Friday, and many local druggists don't know whether they will fill public aid prescriptions or not. A hearing on the pharmacists' suit has been set for Aug. 20.

Several independent druggists said they will not fill the prescriptions, but said they are afraid pharmacists working for drug stores that are part of larger chains of stores may be ordered to fill the drug orders.

Even though the pharmacists may decide to fill the prescriptions, many drug orders might still go unfilled because of added measures that are part of the new state guidelines, it was emphasized.

Those measures say that some drugs which used to be dispensed over the counter without a prescription may now only be given if the person has a special note (Form 12-80) from a doctor each time that particular item is bought.

Some over-the-counter items affected include, in some instances, insulin, laxatives, antacid, aspirin, vitamin pills and elastic bandages.

The problem for persons needing those items in the next week or two is that the doctors have not been given the forms according to several druggists.

Not only do the new guidelines reduce pharmacists' profit, but they also will have the effect of increasing doctors' revenues, it is contended. It is said that an office visit will be required each time an indigent person wants to buy vitamins or aspirin, the druggists claim.

The Madison County office of the Illinois Public Aid Commission said there are about 30,000 welfare recipients in the county.

Darwin Siegel, owner of Granite City Rexall, Niedringhaus Avenue and State Street, said he can't afford to fill IPA prescriptions because his fixed costs — including overhead, taxes, license fees, insurance and drug fees — are about $20 an hour.

The new IPA formula for paying pharmacists will only allow him to earn about one-fourth of those costs, he estimates.

The volume of paperwork required to fill a public aid prescription enables Siegel to process about five prescriptions an hour. He said he would receive about $1 for each public aid prescription after taxes, and that the cost of containers and drug labels is subtracted from the $1.75 the state is now paying pharmacists to fill the prescriptions.

That means he could earn $5 an hour from filling IPA prescriptions, but his costs are four times that amount, Siegel said.

Consequently, filling state public aid drug orders "boils down to a bread and butter issue for most pharmacists. They can't afford to fill the prescriptions," he added.

Siegel said about 40 per cent of his business is from persons receiving public aid.

"This policy of the Illinois Department of Public Aid won't help small businessmen. It's going to really hurt the in-

Butz can be categorized as a single-minded supporter of the "promote exports" syndrome.

Five. Experts help the balance of payments situation; they make up for all that cash outflow we're spending for high-priced foreign oil.

But what is happening to the price of wheat? And what is happening to the price of a bushel of bread?

The Soviet Union, hit by a major drought, has so far purchased 9.8 million tons of corn and wheat from the United States, a little more than half dependent pharmacist," Siegel said.

Charlie Hays of the Downtown Drug Store, 19th Street and Delmar Avenue, agreed with Siegel, saying that under the new payment schedule he couldn't afford to continue filling public aid prescriptions even though he says his store can process about 20 IPA prescriptions an hour.

Hays said even though he can't be reimbursed for insulin that a diabetic needs, because doctors don't yet have the forms the state requires the patient to present to the pharmacist, he believes he has a moral obligation not to withhold the drug from the diabetic.

Siegel said he felt the same way. He said he couldn't refuse to give needed drugs to people who couldn't afford them, even though the state might not reimburse him until he and the doctors have the proper forms.

Many area pharmacists contend the new guidelines will hurt public aid recipients as well as themselves.

the 19 million tons it purchased in the 1972 deals that came to be known as the "great grain robbery."

There is presently a hull in the Soviet buying spree while the Soviets take stock; hints from the Agriculture Department are that the buying will resume soon.

Since the first of July, when rumors of big Moscow wheat purchases in the U.S. market began to spread, the price of wheat has jumped 60 cents a bushel to around $3—an increase of more than 30 per cent.

December delivery corn has been hiked to cents a bushel to $2.90 or a gain of over 20 per cent.

Soybeans, basic to the livestock feed industry, have risen $1.25 a bushel to $6.25—an increase of 25 per cent.

The possibility of a serious drought in some parts of the Midwest has also contributed to the rise in corn and soybean prices.

The conflicting comments last week to two top government officials did little to unravel the confusing situation for the average American.

Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns said he is "frightened" by the amount of U. S. grain the Soviet Union is planning to buy and figures the ultimate cost will be paid for by the consumer at the supermarket checkout counter.

Meanwhile, Don Paarlberg, the Agriculture Department's chief economist, and a devotee of Secretary Butz' "sell now" philosophy, said he hasn't "seen anything that frightens me yet."

He conceded that increases in food prices in 1975 would probably average out to more than the six to eight per cent over 1974 which the department had earlier predicted.

Katherine Griffin of Madison, one of the three women arrested in the raid, was found guilty by a jury in Madison County Circuit Court last week on charges of prostitution. Sentencing will be at a later date.

Joann Dawn Brown, 18, of St. Louis, the third person charged in the prostitution case after the police raid, has defaulted on a $300 bond and is being sought.

In an unrelated instance, a woman giving the name of Jenny Huey, who listed an address as Rural-Route Two, Sterling, Ill., was fined $100 on charges of soliciting for prostitution in St. Robert, Mo., near Fort Leonard Wood, last month, according to records obtained by the Madison Police Department.

Chief Dutko said Madison police and authorities at St. Robert have turned over information in that case to the Federal Bureau of Investigation and the U. S. district attorney to determine if federal laws were violated.

The Spartan Health Spa, 2917 Edwardsville Road, has been named defendant in a suit for $12,000 filed by Kathy Young, who alleges a program of exercises at the spa resulted in body strain that prevented her from adequately caring for an infant child. The suit was filed in Madison County Circuit Court.

Neither Scoville nor Eberhardt could predict how long new financial pinch may last. Eberhardt said the district will be able to meet the next (reduced) payroll due on Aug. 10, but it is a question as to whether the Aug. 25 payroll can be paid, even with the reduction in the levee district payroll.

Normally, with a total of approximately 90 employees including office workers, the levee district payroll ranges from $28,000 to $30,000 each payroll period on the 10th and 25th of each month.

At the East St. Louis office of the levee district, James Spanos, chief district engineer, said payroll layoffs in St. Clair County included 21 regular workers, 30 employees working under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act and four Work Incentive Program employees.

He said that leaves the district 10 maintenance employees, three mowers and laborers and four truck drivers. Office and supervisory employees are still working. Six pump operators also still are on the payroll to operate the district's 15 pump stations and 11 lift stations.

The layoff forced a halt in the cutting of grass and weeds on the district's levees and canals which had just begun in the second cutting of the season, Spanos said.

Spanos said all maintenance work on the levees and ditches also has been halted.

Inquest pending in James Brandon death

Funeral services were held Friday at Corbin Church, 2000 N. Main St., for James Lee Brandon, 27, of 1832 Maple St., who was killed during a shooting incident in the rear yard of his home on July 28.

An inquest is pending and the state's attorney's office is reviewing evidence in the case, it was learned today.

Police were called to Mr. Brandon's home at 8 p.m. July 28, and found him lying face down in the backyard with gunshot wounds to the forehead, neck and left arm. A .22 caliber pistol was found about 10 feet from the body, it was reported.

While police were at the Brandon home, an officer attempted to halt a speeding car near St. Elizabeth Hospital and Granite City, Venice, Nameoki and Chouteau Townships — already have distributed about $480,000 in this year's tax money to the district, according to Eberhardt. Of this amount, $423,000 came from Granite City taxpayers, he said.

The bulk of that money went to the district's tax anticipation debt, leaving $550,000 still to be paid as additional tax revenue comes in. In addition, Eberhardt noted, the district is required to put about 50 per cent of its total revenue into its bond reserve accounts.

Neither Scoville nor Eberhardt could predict how long new financial pinch may last. Eberhardt said the district will be able to meet the next (reduced) payroll due on Aug. 10, but it is a question as to whether the Aug. 25 payroll can be paid, even with the reduction in the levee district payroll.

The driver identified himself as Gerald L. Leibold, 37, of 5044 Leveeview Drive, Pontonville Beach, and reportedly told police that Mr. Brandon had been killed. Leibold was 66-Grand at the hospital with a gunshot wound to the right chest area. He was discharged Saturday.

Police said a gunfight between two men was believed to have started over a disagreement concerning some tires which had been slashed on a vehicle.

An autopsy, conducted July 29 on Mr. Brandon's body, revealed he had been killed by small caliber bullets. Two slugs were recovered from the body which matched a third slug found at the scene of the shooting.

Mr. Brandon is survived by three sons, James, William and Michael Brandon; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Brandon; a sister, Miss Kristina Brandon, all of Granite City; and four brothers, Henry, David and Danny Brandon of Granite City and Ronald Brandon of Alton.

30 years since first attack with atom bomb

By JOHN PINKERMAN

This is the time of year—a 30th anniversary, when many Americans, including columnists, reflect on the right or wrong of the Aug. 6, 1945, atomic bombing of Hiroshima, Japan.

The attack that killed 70,000 or 200,000, depending on whether you accept the lower American estimate or the Japanese figure, brought World War II to an effective conclusion—along with a similar attack on Nagasaki three days later.

President Truman made the decision to go ahead with the nuclear attack. He has been lauded for his courage and he has been damned as a man who caused unnecessary civilian hardship at a time when Japan was about to surrender even without use of such a new and horrible weapon.

Now, as the proliferation of nuclear know-how and atomic weapons increases and as the fear of global nuclear war is associated with any renewal of hostilities in the Middle East, the Hiroshima decision again comes in for intensive review. There is the stand of ultra-liberals who claim flat out that America, as the world's most civilized nation, never should have been the first to employ such a weapon. And, there is the view of many others that war is war and that the Hiroshima attack ended the war, this saving millions of lives that would have been lost in an invasion of Japan.

To some of us, any discussion of the right or wrong of the Hiroshima attack is much more personal than most.

More personal, too, than strategic—but for a few of us the same dilemma remains after all the rhetoric is over.

This civilian war-time soldier was in Cebu in the Philippine Islands on that fateful Aug. 6, 1945. There had been a lot of Pacific invasions but the next target was mainland Japan and D-Day was to be on or about Oct. 1.

Our battalion of 750 men had absorbed hundreds of wounds, minor and major, and a large number of KIA's (killed in action).

When Armed Forces Radio announced that fateful day, or perhaps it was a day later, that many thousands had been killed by one American bomb, we were astonished. When a subsequent announcer talked of an atomic bomb we were ignorant as to what the announcer was talking about.

One thing we did know soon enough. There would be no more first-wave attacks. Very likely we would go home alive. That was enough, to all of us at that time, and if it may sound on the selfish side in retrospect it nonetheless was the mood of the day. We had no need for the extra 50 per cent of battalion personnel strength given us. We had no need for brand new amphibious tanks and the newest in sophisticated conventional weapons.

Then in April, 1971, came a new trip to Hiroshima. I was to visit the Japanese Atomic Bomb Hospital. Dr. Fumio Shigetani, hospital director and himself a victim of the bombing, asked if I wanted to see the mood of the place. Why not?

One man I talked with was 30-year-old Ryuei Kawai. On

A-Bomb Day he was a 13-year-old middle school student attending classes about a mile from Ground Zero—the epicenter of the blast. I don't know if Kawai still is in the hospital or even alive today. But, in 1971, he had been in and out—mostly in one hospital or another for 26 years. He had been a "regular" at the Atomic Bomb Hospital since it opened Sept. 11, 1956. He had had 10 eye operations and still suffered from the bomb's effects. A bandage covered his throat, an example of 26 years of futile efforts to patch him up. His arms and legs showed results of excellent plastic surgery.

He was in what appeared to be good spirits and he was polite in the extreme. Did he hold any animosity toward America for his situation? He raised his head from the steel hospital cot, focused his one usable eye on me and said operations in Japanese translated by Dr. Shigetani, "I just wish you hadn't done it."

Vivid memory of that brief visit with Ryuei Kawai is ever present in my mind whenever the matter of nuclear weapons comes up and whenever Hiroshima is a topic of discussion. But, so is the memory of many of us in the Pacific of those days preparing for an invasion of Japan, along with our belief that the string was about to run out on our good luck.

So, a dilemma remains.

Perhaps use of the nuclear bomb was a necessary evil. If that be the case, the inscription on a monument in Hiroshima's Peace Park is applicable to all people and all nations: "Let all souls here rest in peace, for we shall not repeat the evil."

occupied by the Japanese from 1941 until 1945.

Finally she would say, "And now I am at Hiroshima."

Personally I have two overriding impressions of Hiroshima, aside from the devastation of the atomic bomb. First, the people of this city are determined to try to prevent any further use of atomic or nuclear weapons against people and cities. They want the world to remain aware of what happened at 9:15 a.m., Aug. 6, 1945.

Second, Hiroshima has been converted into a huge tourist attraction. If one is to be honest, there are commercial aspects connected with it too.

No one still knows for certain exactly how many people were killed or injured by the blast.

At the time the bomb was dropped there were approximately 250,000 civilians in Hiroshima and some 90,000 military. According to some estimates deaths at least 185,000, and possibly exceeded 200,000. For more than 12 years after the bomb was dropped, people continued to die as a result of the injuries and diseases they contracted.

Today there are 500 people still being treated in a special hospital center in Hiroshima for the results of an atomic bombing 30 years ago.

Rail plan affects area lines

Cong. Melvin Price (D-23rd Ill.) announced Friday that the results of the final system plan of the U. S. Railway Association and the effect of the plan on area rail lines.

Two local lines will be affected by the plan, which was authorized by Congress under the 1973 Railroad Reorganization Act, Cong. Price said.

The Davis to Lenox, Ill., line runs through the 23rd district from Hillsboro to East St. Louis via Fort Russell, Roxana, South Roxana, Chouteau, Mitchell, Nameoki, Granite City, Venice, and East St. Louis.

This line will be offered for sale from the Penn Central Railroad to the Missouri Pacific and Burlington Northern Railroads, with trackage rights retained by the Consolidated Rail Corporation (ConRail).

Another Penn. Central line from East Alton to Lenox will be offered to the Illinois Central Gulf, a solvent carrier. If the offers are not accepted by these designated carriers, Cong. Price explained, the lines would be transferred to ConRail.

"The most important development to come from the final system plan is the determination that these two lines will retain service to all shippers currently using the lines, whether sold to independent carriers or transferred to ConRail," Price said.

"The emphasis of the reorganization plan is to make the rail system in this country a viable business by retaining competition among ConRail and the independent rail lines."

"In the past years, we have witnessed a visible decline in the nation's railroads, to the point of heavy government subsidy and the spectre of total government control of this once lucrative private industry."

"The final system plan is an important step in the right direction, and hopefully will put the railroads back in their rightful place as an integral part of this nation's transportation industry."

Crafts Fair at MRF site

A mid-August crafts fair is offering another aspect of the arts for patrons of the Mississippi River Festival, on the campus at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

"On Aug. 15 and 16 we will have over 50 different craftspeople displaying and selling their wares," said Pat Sweeney, coordinator of the Crafts Fair and Craft Shop director at the University.

"Many of the people will be demonstrating their crafts and the fair is juried which means that prizes will be awarded to the best individuals and their work."

The first day of the Crafts Fair, Friday (Aug. 15), begins at 4 p.m. Since R.E.O. Speedwagon has a performance that night at the Festival, admission to the grounds for the Crafts Fair is $5, the same as general admission for the rock performance.

"We didn't want to have to use people out right before the R.E.O. Speedwagon show," explained Sweeney. "So we decided to charge the $5 admission so patrons can just stay and watch the concert after they have seen the crafts displayed."

The New Dinosaurs of Rome, a bluegrass group, will be performing during the afternoon of the Friday show, along with other entertainers.

On Saturday (Aug. 16), the action will begin at 3 p.m. Anji Flock and her father Homer will be strolling the grounds, playing folk and bluegrass music. Other activities for the fair that day include a rehearsal from 4 to 6 p.m. by the St. Louis Symphony, prior to its evening performance at the Festival site, a hot-air balloon ascension at 6 p.m., and a special demonstration program of modern dance and ballet by the dance department of SIUE.

Saturday's admission is free until 6 p.m. After 6, a $2 charge, which includes lawn seating for the evening's Symphony performance, will be made.

On both evenings, six tents for the craftsmen will be placed along the left side of the natural amphitheatre which forms the Festival site. The tents, which will provide some shelter in the event of rainy weather, will be just inside the main entrance.

The Crafts Fair is expected to be an unusual highlight of this summer's Festival. The crafts will range from functional pottery through dried flowers. Leather work, woven rugs, ceramics, copper sculpture, jewelry, graphics, macramé, wood carving, stoneware and porcelain, photography, glass, and musical instruments are just some of the crafts already planned for the fair.

"We think people will really enjoy the chance to see and buy the crafts displayed," said Sweeney. "There will be food available and plenty of interesting crafts. We're hoping a lot of people will come out and enjoy an afternoon of crafts and an evening of music." Sweeney added that some of the craftsmen do custom work, and patrons will have the opportunity to arrange for such work while touring the Fair.

Kiwanians hear scout plans

Scouting is an educational, rather than a recreational program, designed to develop good character, citizenship, and physical and mental fitness, according to Ned Freeman, district scout executive for the Uniwah (Quad-Cities) district of the Cahokia Mound Scout Council.

Freeman spoke to the Thursday morning Breakfast Kiwanis meeting in Charlie's restaurant.

Freeman was introduced by Kiwanian, E. Ray Grisham, president of the local Boy Scout council.

Among the coming local scouting events mentioned by Freeman were: School Night for Scouting, a recruiting drive scheduled at several area schools on Sept. 18; a tree planting project from Granite City along a hiking trail to Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, and an areaway camp-out in October.

Grisham reminded the club that anyone who purchased a ticket for the "hole-in-one" tournament that was rained out in July, a new date of Sept. 13 and 14 at Arlington Golf Course, has been set.

Tickets already purchased will be honored on the new dates.

New grants for senior citizens

The Tri-County Health and Welfare Council has urged senior citizens residing in the three county areas of Madison, St. Clair and Monroe to apply for additional tax relief grants which are available to them as a result of legislation passed in Illinois.

This legislation authorized the Illinois Department of Revenue to provide additional tax relief for senior and disabled citizens of Illinois. Lewis C. Waters, executive director of the Tri-County Health and Welfare Council, announced that these grants are in addition to the senior citizen and disabled persons property relief act which is commonly referred to as the "circuit breaker law".

Waters said that according to guidelines furnished by the state Department of Revenue, anyone who was eligible to file for the circuit breaker grants automatically qualifies for the new tax relief grants, since the age, residency and income requirements are the same for both programs.

Waters said that the U.S. census figures for 1970 indicated that there are in excess of 51,000 persons 65 years of age or over who resided in the three county areas of Madison, Monroe and St. Clair.

While not all of these would be qualified for this program, Waters indicated that it was his belief that a sizeable majority would be eligible to make application. Waters said the application form for the tax relief grant is the same form as that used in making application for the circuit breaker grants. The official name is "Department of revenue Claim Form 11-1383". Persons are qualified for the additional tax relief grants if they were:

1. Sixty-five years of age or older before Jan. 1, 1975, or had a physical or mental disability as of Dec. 31, 1974, that has lasted or is expected to last a year or more.

2. Have an annual household income of $9,999 or less.

3. Is a resident of Illinois at the time of filing for the additional tax relief grant.

The minimum new tax relief grant is $50 and the maximum is $100. The grants are figured by multiplying the amount of annual household income by the percentage established by law by various income levels.

Percentages vary from 1 to 4 per cent. For example: A person whose household income was $3,500, the percentage figure used would be 2 per cent and the person would be entitled to a grant of $70.

Waters said that the average check received under this program, at the present time, by those senior citizens making application is $78. Application forms are available upon request at the office of the Tri-County Health and Welfare Council, Suite 402, 1st National Bank Building, East St. Louis. No applications will be mailed.

Rules Walker item veto was unconstitutional

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has ruled that Governor Walker's use of the item veto was unconstitutional when he struck legislative guidelines from an appropriation bill without actually reducing the appropriation.

Scott said the governor kept the total appropriation of $3,790,000 for the Department of Public Health, but attempted to veto proper legislative restrictions on the way the appropriation was spent.

The result would be the governor's Department of Public Health could distribute $3,790,000 among local governments any way it chose, Scott said.

The governor had attempted to veto legislative provisions that grants to local governments would be in the same amounts as each received in 1974, plus one-third more where certain basic public health programs were established.

Scott said: "The 1970 Illinois Constitution grants the governor only the power to veto or reduce an item of appropriation. This does not authorize the Governor to alter or eliminate a condition or limitation placed on the expenditure of an appropriation by the General Assembly."

To hold otherwise would open the door to a possible abuse of the executive power. For example, if the governor could, through his item veto power, strike selected words and phrases from an appropriation bill, while leaving the appropriation itself intact, he could alter the intent of the legislature."

Boy critical of burns

Donald W. Tinsley, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Tinsley, 3833 Logan St., remained in critical condition today in intensive care of the Barnes Unit of Barnes Hospital, St. Louis, after suffering burns to 75 per cent of his body in a gasoline fire.

The boy suffered first, second and third degree burns when his clothing caught fire from flaming gasoline that had spilled on the floor of the garage at the Tinsley home. The incident occurred July 25.

Donald's mother, Mrs. Margaret Tinsley, said her son suffered third degree burns on 65 per cent of his body and first and second degree burns on 10 per cent of his body.

She said Donald was in a go-cart in the garage and that some gasoline had spilled on the garage floor in filling the gasoline tank. She said it became ignited apparently from a spark from a cigarette which one of her son's friends was smoking.

She said the boy beat out the flames in Donald's clothing with an old rug.

Mrs. Tinsley said her son will undergo plastic surgery and is expected to be confined to the hospital "for a good many months." She said friends may write to him in Room 3200 at Barnes Hospital, St. Louis.

In the first contest, winning pitcher Mark Boone improved his record to four wins against no losses. Mercer collected 11 hits and Fairfax four.

Both sides garnered two runs in the opening inning. Mercer scored when Jack Scarborough singled, Mike Sprague walked, Bob Scott reached base on a fielder's choice that retired

The visitors took a 3-2 lead in the second inning, but Rich Schardan's solo homer in the fourth deadlocked the contest at 3-3.

The local nine put a fourth run across in the fifth as Bobby Scott doubled, Greenwald walked and Corey singled.

Mercer added three insurance runs in the sixth when Vic Renack, Boone and Jack Scarborough singled and Hank Scott tripled.

Braves increase their winning streak to 11

The Granite City Braves ran their winning streak to 11 yesterday at Wilson Park with an 8-1 victory over Belleville. The win gave the 1975 Central Illinois Traveling League title.

The local nine last week had earned victories nine and ten with back-to-back wins, 15-0 and 6-4, over a visiting West Memphis, Ark., all-star squad. John Lakin, the workhorse pitcher of the Braves, hurled the local squad past Belleville West and into the Illinois Class B Khoury League final at Decatur next Saturday.

Lakin, 7-1 on the year, was not scheduled to pitch yesterday. Randy Lyerla had been given the nod, but was hampered by a previous ankle injury.

Thus, the big right-hander warmed up hurriedly and, after a shaky first inning, took charge and tossed a five-hitter.

Lakin walked the leadoff man and gave up two hits to lead the batters with no outs.

Shortstop Mike Clark then took a hot grounder and threw home for the forceout. The next batter popped up to Clark, and Lakin struck out the final hitter in the frame.

The Braves turned the Belleville hurler's second-inning wildness into a merry-go-round.

With one out, Ed Pragma walked and went to second on Tom Manogian's single. With two outs, Jim Cedor singled, sending Pragma across the plate.

A passed ball put Cedor and Manogian on second and third. Mike Clark, Randy Smith and Eldon Warfield all followed with walks.

Paul Evans then cleared the bases with a hard-hit double and the Braves led 5-0. Lakin singled to send Evans home and went to second as the throw to the plate was wide of the mark.

Ed Pragma hit a slow bouncer that went past the second baseman and Lakin came home with an 8-0 margin to work on. The Granite City pitcher did work on it. He kept the West hitters out of contention the rest of the day, even though they managed a fifth-inning run.

The only other Belleville threat came in the sixth when the visitors put runners on first and second with no one out.

The next batter smashed a ground shot to third baseman Jim Cedor, who tagged the bag and threw to first, completing a double play.

The Braves have compiled a 29-9 record enroute to the state final.

This weekend's game with Cahokia and the Feine Meine tourney opener were postponed because of rain.

The Braves will meet the St. Louis Cobras Tuesday at 8:15 p.m. in the Meine tournament.

As for Decatur, the Braves will meet a squad that has won 14 straight while compiling a 23-5 season mark.

The winner will meet the Missouri champ in a best two-out-of-three series for the Khoury title.

The Decatur team defeated Springfield 14-1 Saturday and Bloomington 9-0 Friday in gaining the state final round.

The Braves hurlers of Lakin (7-1), Paul Evans (4-2), Mike Hankins (6-0), John Slay (4-2), Randy Lyerla (1-0) and Tim Kirksey (1-1) have a combined earned run average of 1.68 runs per nine innings, headed by Evans at 0.79 and Lyerla at 0.85.

The team has a .389 batting average.

The Granite City Braves baseball nine, swept to victory here at Wilson Park last week in a two-game series with a visiting West Memphis, Ark., All-Star squad which is making a tour of the Midwest.

The Braves blanked the All-Stars 15-0 and then won the second contest, 6-4.

In the opening game Monday of the series with West Memphis, the Braves bombed the visitors with 17 hits while John Lakin and John Slay combined to limit West Memphis to just two safe hits in winning 15-0.

GCHS North grid schedule is set

Granite City High School North football coach Tom Wyrostek has announced the Steelers 1975 pre-season grid schedule, and reminded prospective players that physical and parent permission forms may be obtained from the school office during regular working hours.

Both forms must be returned before the first day of practice, Wednesday, Aug. 13, at 9 a.m.

Wyrostek asks that all students at GCHS North interested in participating in the fall football program report to the school gymnasium to receive equipment on Friday, Aug. 8, at 10 a.m. for varsity; Monday, Aug. 11 at 6 p.m. for sophomores; and Tuesday, Aug. 12, at 6 p.m. for freshmen.

The game started modestly as Eldon Warfield delivered a two-out single then stole second. John Lakin, who was 3 for 3 at bat, doubled sending Warfield home with a 1-0 Braves lead in the first inning.

However, in the second inning, the local squad took charge as Tom Manogian led off with a home run. Jim Cedor singled, stole second and was sacrificed to third by Mike Clark.

Randy Smith drew a walk while Cedor scored on a passed ball.

Warfield was safe on an error that moved Smith to third. Paul Evans singled to score Smith and advanced Warfield to third.

Lakin's smash single put Warfield across the plate. Ed Pragma doubled to drive in Evans and Lakin for a six-run inning to push the Braves to a comfortable 7-0 lead.

The local squad then erupted for an eighth-inning rally. Clark, Smith and Dan Stanton all singled to open the frame and led the bases. John Slay singled to put Clark in to score.

Ford, Miki eye Korea security

When President Gerald Ford welcomes Japanese Prime Minister Takeo Miki to Washington for talks in early August, the leading item on their agenda will be the security of South Korea.

Miki's decision to send Foreign Minister Kiichi Miyawara to Seoul to discuss South Korea's defense posture underscores Japan's concern over the continuing threat by Communist North Korea.

Miki said the other day that regardless of whether Japan reiterated a 1969 pledge to extend Korean security as vital to its own security in allowing the United States to use bases in Japan for the defense of Korea, "the fact is that there is a deep relationship between the security of Korea and Japan."

The statement was the most solid reaffirmation of Japan's concern over South Korean security since Miki became prime minister seven months ago.

Miyawara, who will accompany Miki to Washington, spelled out Japan's Asian policy in more detail at a recent speech to the Foreign Correspondents' Club of Tokyo.

First of all, he said Japan endorsed resumption of political dialogue between Pyongyang and Seoul. Those talks were suspended months ago and North Korea has been reluctant to participate on any but its own terms — takeover of the south.

Miyawara also suggested that the autumn meeting of the United Nations should discuss the Korea question more seriously; that a great power "meeting of the minds" should consider the future of the politically tense, strategically crucial peninsula.

"Japan is prepared, if necessary in cooperation with other countries concerned, to play an active role in the search for Korea solutions," he said.

Does this mean Japan is finally coming out of its shell and will participate more in Asian politics and defense — as the United States has urged.

Perhaps, Miyawara's statement of Japan's leading Asian problems suggests that Japan is at least considering a more activist political participation.

Miyawara listed peace and stability in Korea, "which is separated from Japan only by a narrow stretch of water," as the main objective of Japanese foreign policy in the Asian region.

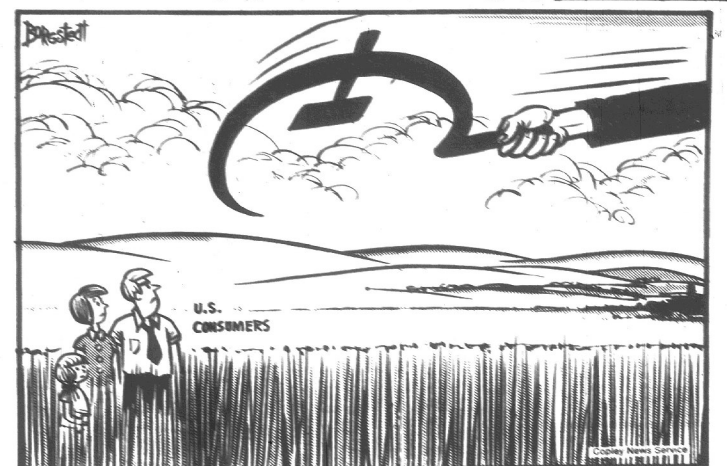

Stability and harmony in relations with the People's Republic of China and the Soviet Union were listed as the second most important considerations.

Improved relations with Southeast Asian nations came third in the ranking of Japan's priorities.

'INDEPENDENTS' Delegate selection method their victory

By AL MANNING

SPRINGFIELD — State Democratic Chairman John Touhy's decision to change the method of selecting the 169 delegates to the National Nominating Convention represents a victory of sorts for the so-called Independents. "It's a clear victory as far as I'm concerned," said State Central Committee member James Wall of Elmhurst. "There's no doubt I would have won the appeal and they know that. It's important they have capitulated."

At a June 4 meeting of the State Central Committee, Touhy rammed through a plan whereby 153 delegates to the convention would be elected at the Congressional District level and the remaining 16 would be elected statewide.

Wall protested. He said the rules formulated by the Democratic National Committee prevented the election of delegates statewide. Instead, he suggested the 16 be chosen by the 153 elected at the congressional elections. Touhy, the former speaker of the Illinois House who is aligned with Mayor Richard Daley, had his plan quickly approved by the committee even before most of the members were certain as to what the issues were. To top it off, he included a passage in his plan that if anything needed changing, the executive committee would do it. After the plan was adopted, Wall filed his objection. Meanwhile, a Chicago reporter told National Chairman Robert Strauss at the National Governor's Conference in New Orleans of the situation.

When Strauss' staff member he agreed the Illinois plan was in conflict with the rules, Strauss immediately said he would talk to Daley in order to avoid another controversy such as the one in which Daley was ousted from the convention in 1972.

Two days later Touhy called a meeting of the executive committee and the plan was changed. Wall said he approves of the new plan, even though he originally favored the choosing of the 16 by the other 153. The important issue, from his point of view, is not whether all the delegates were elected by the public, but whether the state committee followed the national rules.

Bi-State agency selected to handle transportation funds

Directors of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council has recommended the designation of Bi-State Development Agency as the sole recipient of funds appropriated for the St. Louis region under the National Mass Transportation Assistance Act of 1974.

Under this act, governors of Illinois and Missouri, the areawide planning agency (Gateway Council), and the publicly owned operators of mass transportation (Bi-State Development Agency) must jointly designate the recipient agency for the $62 million appropriated for the St. Louis area over the next six fiscal years.

The board of directors recommended designation of Bi-State as sole recipient for both Alton and St. Louis urbanized area allocations. This action was based on Section 5 of the Act of 1974, which requires that the recipients must be legally eligible to:

1. Receive and dispense federal transit funds.
2. Submit a program of projects to the Urban Mass Transit Administration (UMTA) through Gateway Council and the governors of Illinois and Missouri.
3. Submit project applications to UMTA.
4. Enter into formal project agreements with UMTA.

5. Certify that a public hearing has been conducted. Bi-State Development Agency is the only agency legally authorized by an interstate compact between the states of Missouri and Illinois to finance, construct, and operate public transportation services in the region.

The joint designation of the recipient by the local and state officials must be submitted to the UMTA administrator for UMTA's concurrence. The administrator has the authority to designate the recipient if agreement cannot be reached by all parties involved.

UMTA has encouraged the designation of a single recipient for an urbanized area.

Rendleman returns home from hospital

President John S. Rendleman of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville returned home Friday from a 17-day period of medical treatment at Jewish Hospital in St. Louis.

The president said he hopes to be able to resume office hours within a few days. Throughout his illness, he has continued to confer with members of his staff and maintain the functions of the presidency as normally as possible.

Medical tests July 17 confirmed Rendleman had a malignancy in one lung. Treatment was started immediately, and his doctors stated today they are "very pleased" with the results.

Plan pre-school center here

The Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens, with offices in Alton, will open a pre-school center at the Central Christian Church, 2030 Johnson Road, on Aug. 13, according to Richard Powell, Powell, supportive services supervisor for the association spoke at the Thursday noon meeting of the Granite City Optimist Club in the YMCA. The organization, Powell said, serves retarded people from birth to death.

The association was established in 1958, and in 1969 started its pre-school operation in Alton. In this area children will be handled through referrals from Larry R. Dew, director of Special Education, Region One. Optimist Lee Konzen is program chairman for Thursday.

STATION BURGLARIZED

Ed's Conoco service station, 1501 Madison Ave. was broken into between 6:30 p.m. Friday and 6:40 a.m. Saturday. Thieves knocked out a glass window on the west side of the building and pried open a storage room door inside. A cigarette machine was pried open and the change taken, in addition to $13 from the cash register. Police believe the thief was cut, as blood stains were found near the window.

THEFT FROM TRAILER

The theft of several items from a mobile home at 2301 Nameoki Road, Lot 1, was reported at 2 a.m. Monday by Robert Clatts. Missing were silverware, valued at $15, a set of glasses, worth $5, a pair of trousers, $15 and a shirt, $5.

Roger Beck named to state post

Roger C. Beck, former district director of the Internal Revenue Service's Chicago district, has been named deputy director for compliance of the Illinois Department of Revenue. The appointment, effective immediately, was announced Friday by state Revenue Director Robert H. Alphin.

Beck, 55, will direct the department's tax compliance program, which includes office and field operations for tax audits and collections. He will be based in Springfield.

"Illinois gained an outstanding administrator and tax collector in Mr. Beck," Alphin said. As head of the compliance division, he will be charged with using the laws available to see that all taxes owed are collected.

His extensive background in tax collection and enforcement of tax laws for the federal government gave him the credentials and experience for getting the job done in Illinois.

Beck has been the Chicago district director for the IRS since November 1971. He was the assistant regional commissioner, IRS Midwest Region, for accounts, collections, and taxpayer service in the previous four years.

A graduate of IRS executive training schools, Beck joined the Internal Revenue Service in 1955, when he became the chief of operating facilities branch in Chicago.

He served as a regional collection analyst in 1958 and was named chief of the Chicago district's taxpayer service branch in November of that year.

In October 1960, Beck was named assistant chief of the collection division and became chief of the division in 1964. He was the assistant district IRS director in Buffalo, N. Y., for two years before he was named the Midwest Region's assistant commissioner for collections in 1967.

Beck has been active in civic affairs. He has held several offices in the American Legion, Boy Scouts of America, and his church.

A Minneapolis native, Beck is married to the former Evelyn A. Kaas of Walnut Grove, Minn. They have three children.

right, are Commissioner Robert Patrick, Secretary Frank R. Rea, Commissioner and Finance Chairman Barry Loman, Park District Director Harold Brown, Attorney Eric Robertson, and Commissioner George H. Sykes.

School aid prorated at 95 per cent of entitlement

The State Board of Education has directed that state aid payments to school districts be prorated at 95 per cent of a district's entitlement to conform with budget cuts made by

Gov. Dan Walker.

Board members approved a resolution Thursday stipulating that monthly payouts to districts amount to no more than 1-12 of the $1,173,000,000 approved by the governor. The Illinois General Assembly has appropriated $1,254,000,000, but Walker reduced it by $81 million.

Taxpayers still may pay bills at local banks

Although local tax collections by City Treasurer Paul Rutledge ended Friday, Granite City taxpayers will continue to make payments at the local banks in behalf of Madison County Treasurer George Musso.

Rutledge said he will balance the books to determine the amount of collections made by the banks in behalf of his office, and return them to the county treasurer.

All tax payments made hereafter at the banks will go to the county treasurer instead of the county treasurer, and will be distributed to the taxing bodies by the county office.

Action by the Board of Education followed a warning by the governor this week that he would consider it illegal if payouts to districts were made on the basis of full funding of the school aid formula. Payments are processed by the Illinois Office of Education.

In the past two years, the state education agency had paid the full amount to which each district is entitled under the school aid formula. If the amount appropriated by the legislature and approved by the governor was insufficient to make full payments, supplemental appropriations were obtained to make up the difference.

Board members indicated they agreed to prorating school aid payments this year in order to protect the interests of school districts by insuring that they would receive at least 95 per cent of their monthly payments without delay.

Charge filed in stabbing

Mark C. Cline, 20, of 62 Parktowne West, was charged with aggravated battery at 1:20 a.m. Friday, following a disturbance at Rico's II, 3675 Nameoki Road, in which a man reportedly was stabbed several times.

Police said a large crowd had gathered outside the nightclub where Cline was allegedly fighting with a third man when officers arrived.

Injured inside the club, after an alleged altercation with Cline, was Robert Parks, 21, of 5151 Old Alton Road.

Parks was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital and admitted for treatment of stab wounds to the left shoulder and right arm and superficial lacerations to the chin.

Enlist 3 at stadium

Three Granite City area residents were among the 70 young men from Illinois and Missouri who were enlisted in the U. S. Navy at Busch Memorial Stadium, St. Louis, as members of the 1975 Cardinals Navy Recruit Company.

Sponsored by the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals and Navy Recruiting District, the enlistment ceremony took place between games of a double-header.

Rear Admiral Robert B. McClinton, commander, Navy Recruiting Command, traveled from Washington, D.C., to administer the oath of enlistment.

After attending the game as guests of the St. Louis Baseball Cardinals, the new sailors left for Navy recruit training at Great Lakes, Ill. The recruits will carry the Cardinals Company pennant during their nine weeks of training until their graduation in September.

The St. Louis Baseball Cardinals Navy Recruit Company has been an annual tradition since 1959 and is the oldest such tradition in the nation. Last year's company successfully carried the tradition winning nearly every professional and academic award in company competition at Navy Recruit Training and was named Recruit Honor Company.

Those enlisting from the Quad-City area were James M. Crouch, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Crouch, 13 Lakeview Drive, Poston Beach; Mark Von Nida, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chris W. Von Nida, 2332 E. 24th St.; and James W. Blackwell, the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Blackwell, 2561 Nameoki Drive.

Plan benefit 'bowling bee' to fight muscular dystrophy

Residents of this metropolitan area have rallied in support of a planned 48-hour muscular dystrophy "bowling bee" Saturday and Sunday at Brunswick Tri-Motor Bowl, 201 Nameoki Road, according to Tony Sodi, manager of the local bowling lanes.

"The whole thing has really snowballed," he said, "and promises to be a star-studded event."

The event will be held in conjunction with Comedian Jerry Lewis' national telethon in St. Louis and the district Muscular Dystrophy Association office in St. Louis to help raise money to fight muscular dystrophy and related neuromuscular diseases.

Those who have volunteered to conduct various activities during the affair are: Granite City Mayor Paul Schuler; Poston Beach Mayor Floyd David Moss; David Lee, WLL Radio; Tim VanGelder, Channel 4 TV; John Abel, Channel 5 TV; Bob Baker, WGN Radio; Robin Lowery, WSE Radio; Ken Thompson, Granite City Press-Record; Marge Salem School of Dancing; John Apperson, magician; National School of Music, and bands conducted by David Hyla, Terry Dutko, and Jerry Stoner.

The affair, which will be held inside the bowling establishment and outside on the parking lot, will begin at midnight Friday, Aug. 8, and end at midnight Sunday, Aug. 10.

Some of the featured activities will be three-games bowling series between the Granite City Police and Fire Departments, two BeeLine fashion shows, a variety of games, horse and buggy rides, a 15-girl talent show, a slave sale, an auto racing vehicle display, a car wash, bowling competition between youthful bowlers, adults and Tri-Motor Bowl's regular summer league teams, baton twirling contests, dancing and an elephant on wheels.

Mayor Schuler and David Lee are among those who will conduct various auctions, including the slave sale in which the highest bidder buys a person for use during a one-hour period to perform work or tasks.

In addition, Quad-City area young ladies will serve in one kissing booth. Ken Thompson and Robin Lowery will join four of this area's top auto race drivers—Kenney Schrader, Bob Wente Jr., Kris Krohn, Mike Wallace—in a second booth. Madison's Greenhall Tavern will furnish a fire engine and a float for the performing bands from 9-11 p.m. each day; the Rosanna Youth National Trail Club will conduct a "beat the jar" game; Mike Amusement will furnish pinball machines for a pinball tournament; and John Apperson will perform his magic act in the "300" Room at 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

The 15-girl talent show will perform from 1-4 p.m. only on Saturday.

Sodi notes that individuals wishing to compete in the bowling are to seek sponsors for each game. Anyone interested in joining the endeavor should appear at the local bowling lanes this week to discuss or contact him at 453-2000.

State gets $7 million in tax case

Illinois Attorney General William J. Scott has turned over $7,067,000 to the State's sales general revenue fund which fiscal experts have warned is in danger of going deeply in the red.

The $7 million windfall for the state came as a result of a legal victory by Attorney General Scott in the Illinois Supreme Court. The money had been held in a protest fund pending a high court decision on the constitutionality of the Illinois Cigarette Tax Act's regressive graduated discount paid to cigarette wholesalers for collecting the state cigarette tax on retailers.

The 1973 Illinois Cigarette Tax Act requires wholesale distributors of cigarettes to purchase from the state revenue stamps showing payment of the tax imposed on retailers, to affix these stamps to each package of cigarettes sold, and to add to the tax to the price of cigarettes.

In the original act, each distributor was allowed a flat five per cent discount to cover the costs of collecting the tax. Amendments of 1963 and 1965 changed the flat discount to a graduated one based on the volume of business.

Since a 1967 amendment, the actual discount in dollars has amounted to $1.20 per case for the first $700,000 in stamps purchased each year; 96 cents per case for the next $700,000; and 48 cents per case for all additional stamps purchased during that year. Thus, large volume distributors get a smaller discount than small volume distributors.

The large Cook County cigarette wholesalers took their case all the way to the Illinois Supreme Court, contending that the regressive discount discriminated against them in favor of the smaller wholesalers.

The Supreme Court upheld Attorney General Scott's contention that the regressive graduated discount is constitutional.

Cook County Circuit Court Judge Thomas C. Donovan, at the request of the attorney general, entered an order releasing the funds, and the attorney general directed the state treasurer to deposit the money in the state's general revenue fund.

Suggest use of well-points to cut water table

A suggestion that a series of well-points be used to lower the water table in the Doherty Slough area of Nameoki Township has been made by area residents who said dewatering processes in repairing a nearby Granite City sewer break caused a two-foot drop in the underground water level in the vicinity of the slough.

The effect on the water table in the slough area resulted from use of well-points to lower the groundwater table to permit repair of a broken sanitary sewer line on Stearns Avenue. The dewatering resulted in a lowering of the water table to the extent the basements in some homes of the Doherty Slough area dried out.

The water came back, residents say, after the dewatering process was discontinued by the contractor. However, residents of the area have written to the governor, state legislators and civil defense officials asking them to help in such a plan.

GC Steel named in damage suit

He alleges that on May 13, 1975, while employed as an ironworker, he was injured when a co-worker slipped on a grease and struck Christensen's leg with a sledge hammer.

State trims Medicaid costs

The Illinois Department of Public Aid will trim its Medicaid expenditures six per cent by implementing a series of cost-saving policies, Director James L. Trainor announced Thursday.

None of the medical services offered under the Medicaid program will be eliminated, Trainor said.

The $50 million Medicaid reduction is needed to meet revised revenue estimates. The projected 1976 Medicaid budget was reduced to $776 million July 7 by an amendatory veto of the governor. The original budget request was for $827 million.

Welfare grants will not be reduced, Trainor said. Only the Department's Medical Assistance program and its administrative costs were reduced by six per cent.

One new cost-saving policy will revise payment schedules for the reimbursement of private practitioners (doctors, dentists, optometrists, osteopaths, etc.) who treat Medicaid patients.

At present, doctors are paid their "usual and customary" fee for a medical procedure unless that fee lies above the cost charged by 70 per cent of all physicians within the county or state.

Usual and customary fees are determined quarterly by recording the amount each physician charges for a particular procedure. The fees, which are routinely updated once a year, have lagged behind for several years. The latest updating of fees was in 1972.

Under the new plan, the Department of Public Aid will update all physicians' fees to current levels and set a new maximum on rates for each procedure. In order to operate within this year's budget, however, the department will be required to pay less than the newly established ceilings.

The new physician fees are scheduled to go into effect Sept. 1.

Nursing home rates will be frozen at their current level Aug. 1, a measure that is estimated to save the Department more than $15 million. The budget for fiscal year 1976 had been figured to include an 11 per cent average increase in nursing home costs.

Still another new policy will save the public aid agency several million dollars in the amount spent for prescription drugs by requiring physicians to document a patient's need for over-the-counter drugs. Under the present system, the Department of Public Aid pays for such "medicine chest" items as aspirin, vitamin pills, elastic bandages and laxatives when they are ordered by a doctor on a standard prescription form.

The Department of Public Aid also will not pay for appetite depressant drugs ("diet pills").

The amount of reimbursement allowed for private pharmacies will be altered under the new drug guidelines. Current policy is that the public aid agency pays for all prescription items, figuring its reimbursement on a standard formula that adds a 30 per cent markup to the cost of the drug and a $1.35 professional fee.

Starting Friday, pharmacies are to be reimbursed for the wholesale cost of the drug (the manufacturer's price before the mark-ups and fees are added) and a $1.75 flat rate to cover additional costs.

"I don't believe these changes will adversely affect pharmacists in this state," Trainor said. He cited the swift increase in wholesale drug costs as one reason for the new drug reimbursement formula.

All drug policies were effective Friday.

The Department of Public Aid is also studying various alternatives that could decrease the amount of money paid to hospitals.

Additional cost-saving policies are still being studied, Trainor said. He added that the new policies will trim the 1976 Medicaid expenditures to levels set by Gov. Dan Walker.

Sod webworms invade lawns

By WAYNE B. SIEPERT

Have you noticed little gray moths in your lawn during the past few days? Those are sod webworm adults. Sod webworms are in the moth stage before starting the second generation of worms. Dry weather combined with an enormous increase in worms during early August can result in brown areas in your lawn.

Treating your lawn is a simple task. Deciding if you need it can be complicated. Have you seen lots of gray moths in the last few days while you cut your grass? It's all relative, but if you noticed an unusual number that's quite a lot!

If your lawn beginning to develop some dry areas? The combination of lots of moths and poor growth will cause some damage to your lawn!

Going dormant in dry weather is a natural event for bluegrass. But if the dry areas have a lot of loose grass, where worms have chewed it off, that's when to treat!

Use diazinon (sequestered), carbaryl (Sevin), or Chlorpyrifos (Dursban) either as a spray or as granules. Aconon (Pronal) is effective as a spray. One application near the 10th of August will control sod webworm for the rest of the season.

Sweet Gum Trees are making up for the big freeze last year with a super crop of gum balls. Some trees are dropping from the weight of developing gum balls, and occasional large limbs are snapping off. There isn't anything you can do to prevent this breakage! I feel the gum balls will reach maturity in August and then lose weight as they ripen.

If your trees have breakage, do not make repairs until fall.

BOAT MOTOR STOLEN

A boat motor valued at $1,100 was stolen from a boat at the rear of 6402 Glass Ct. 1202 Edwardsville Road, last week. A chain-link fence around the business was cut to allow entry to the yard.

BICENTENNIAL AWARD TO SIUE. Illinois State Senator Sam Vadalabene of Edwardsville, second from right, who is a member of the Illinois Bicentennial Commission (IBC), presents a $3,750 check to Kenneth G. Ryden, assistant professor and sculptor in the department of art and design at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. The grant, awarded by the IBC, will be used by SIUE for the production of three model sculptures commemorating the Bicentennial celebration theme, "Horizon '76." The works will be done by professional Illinois sculptors. Present for the ceremony were, from the left: Bette Cerf Hall, director of Communications and Special Projects, IBC; Prof. Ryden; Senator Vadalabene; and Annette Mulvaney Graebe, chairman of the SIUE Bicentennial Committee.

Same 'errors' mark tax returns

When it comes to tax matters central and southern Illinois residents have more in common with each other than they may realize, according to Ira S. Loeb, district director of Internal Revenue for central and southern Illinois.

He said that audits of income tax returns filed by local residents revealed that the same or similar errors appeared on a number of returns. The errors range from overstated or unsubstantiated expenses and losses to understated or unreported income and tax gains.

"For instance, some taxpayers may have claimed a higher value for an article destroyed or lost than the object was worth," Loeb said.

On the other hand, some taxpayers failed to report extra income from tips, occasional jobs, rent, and interest or dividends.

"In any of the situations, however, the effect is the same—to incorrectly reduce the amount of income on which tax is due. Whatever the reason for the errors, the taxpayer still must pay the tax due, interest, and perhaps even penalty charges on the amount due," he explained.

Local taxpayers frequently failed to keep records that adequately backed up the deductions they claimed for medical, moving, and employee business expenses. Records normally should include cancelled checks and itemized receipts, bills, papers showing computation of various expenses and reimbursements.

The IRS official said that without seeing adequate records to substantiate the taxpayers' deductions, the IRS must disallow part or all of the amounts taxpayers have written on their returns.

He noted that some central and southern Illinois taxpayers also failed to completely report gross income and deductions from business and farm operations, and often neglected to report self-employment tax on business and farm income.

"Taxpayers shouldn't wait for a letter informing them of an audit to spur themselves into keeping good records or into properly reporting income, expenses, or losses. Good records can help save money; both by control of business expenses, and by identifying areas where taxes can be reduced or avoided."

"Correctly reporting tax information can save taxpayers from needless worry about what an IRS audit may find," Loeb said.

He urged area residents to call the IRS whenever they have questions about tax matters, adding that it is far better to avert tax difficulties than to have to solve them.

Hawkins Dance, Ramsey Lewis among River Fest features

The appearance of Roberta Flack Tuesday night, and Arlo Guthrie and Pete Seeger on Wednesday will highlight the sixth week of activities at the Mississippi River Festival on the campus of Southern Illinois University.

Other programs scheduled this week include Chamber Music on Thursday, America on Sunday and two Alfred Hitchcock films, also on Sunday.

A Czechoslovakian Film Festival and a week-long residency at SIUE by the Erick Hawkins Dance Co. are also on this week's MRF program.

The Czech Film Festival includes three important films made during the Czech renaissance when the political climate in the country had eased prior to the fall of the Dubcek government in 1968.

The first, "Love of a Blonde," will be shown at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Monday in the Communications Building Theater. The second film in the Czech series, "Closely Watched Trains," shown at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Communications Building Theater, is a winner of an Academy Award for "Best Foreign Film."

The final Czech film, "Capricious Summer," shown at 7:30 and 9:30 p.m. in the Communications Building Theater. The theater is being used for the final chamber music performance, rather than the campus Religious Center, where previous programs were presented, because a special program, utilizing mime and the dance in accompaniment to the music, is planned.

Friday and Saturday, Aug. 8 and 9, the Erick Hawkins Dance Company will present its program in modern dance.

Hawkins, who has been one of the foremost figures in modern dance for decades, will lead his company in the innovative forms of the dance for which it has become famous.

In addition, the company will be in residency during the week, offering classes, demonstrations and lectures in the Hawkins technique.

Sunday, Aug. 10, the rock group America will perform, bringing its style of listenable rock music to the Festival at 8:30 p.m.

Appearing with America will be The Captain and Tennie, whose hit "Love Will Keep Us Together" was number one in the country this summer.

Closing out the week will be a showing of two Alfred Hitchcock classics, "Saboteur" and "Strangers on a Train," scheduled at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 10, in the Communications Building Theater.

The theater is being used for

New attractions at library

By JEANETTE KAMPEN
Of the Library Staff
Coming attractions in the children's summer program at the Granite City Public Library are two Walt Disney films. On Wednesday at 10 a.m., "The Three Caballeros" will be presented for preschoolers in the Children's Department.

This musical animated cartoon features Donald Duck, Jose Carioca, the Brazilian parrot, and Panchito, the rugged rigger of Mexico, on a magic carpet ride through Latin America. For older children, "Johnny Tremain" will be shown on Tuesday, Aug. 12, at 2 p.m.

A historical adventure of America's fight for independence in the 1770s, the film authentically recreates the famous ride of Paul Revere, the Boston Tea Party, and the battles at Lexington and Concord.

Don't forget — GCPL is having a book sale Aug. 19 and 20 on the parking lot behind the library. Many fiction and non-fiction titles will be on sale for bargain prices.

Reference question of the week: "I have tried so hard to do right" are the last words of a president of the U. S. Who was he?

Answer: Grover Cleveland.

For the month of August, the Gardenaire Garden Club has chosen fences and screens as the theme of the information center at GCPL. Whether your goal is more privacy or improving the appearance of your yard or patio, the Gardenaire's display will give you some good ideas and "How to" suggestions.

New Items: Hal L. Cohen's "Official Guide to Comic Books and Big Little Books: The Price to Buy and Sell" will be of interest to all collectors and to those readers who have stuffed their comics and big little books into a dark attic corner.

"Red Ryder and Little Beaver on Wheels of Thunder," a Big Little Book published in the 1940s, for example, sells for $3.50 to $12, depending upon its condition. And "Captain America" comic, No. 1, published in 1941, sells for $500 to $700. Check that attic again!

For the magician, Jean Hugard's "Handkerchief Magic" is a must. This book attempts to describe all the sleights and tricks with handkerchiefs that are known.

Johanna Luciw, Ann Kmit, and Loretta Luciw deal with the subject of decorating eggs in "Eggs Beautiful: How to Make Ukrainian Easter Eggs." The authors have tried to answer the basic questions of design and coloring. The book is amply illustrated.

Interested in a brief but interesting introduction to the scientific study of sleep, dreams, and insomnia? William C. Dement, director of Stanford University's Sleep Disorders Clinic, explains various aspects of sleep, and this book should definitely any reader who wants to know more about that third of life he or she spends in bed.

to a point. However, she was the sworn enemy of the cruel and dishonest Bureau of Indian Affairs agents who managed reservations.

She went to Washington several times. She was brushed off by President Rutherford Hayes and she was lied to by the secretary of the interior regarding what the government would do to protect Paiute rights to land, food and clothing. She took her case to the public and lectured extensively, winning nationwide public support.

Her life generally was one of heroes but also of frustrations. Miss Gehm did several years' research putting this extraordinary book together and her principal figure, Sarah Winnemucca, comes through as a person to win the admiration of readers in Nevada, where the Paiutes are well known, or in cities like New York, where the West is known still as little else than wide open spaces.

Chicago gets lion's share of state welfare payments

SPRINGFIELD — Chicago has its share of problems, financial and otherwise, but as the last city in the United States still being controlled smoothly by a political machine and a powerful boss, it appears in better shape than most other big U.S. cities.

There are presently more than 700,000 persons receiving some form of public aid in Chicago, where the population is roughly seven million. Public aid spokesman says the case load there represents 70 per cent of the state's total public aid cases, which is the biggest part of the dollar outlay going to "aid to families with dependent children." In May of this year, the last period for which figures are available, there were 223,841 families, with a total of $65,541 individuals receiving a total of $63,114,677.

Public aid information officer Lynn Pierce says that Illinois aid figures for Chicago and the state are declining — that is, they are increasing at a slower rate. Last February, she says, the case load increased by 5,584 to a total of 213,903. While March the increase was 3,356, to a total of 218,467. In April, only 886 new cases were added, for a total of 219,468, and in May, there were only 300 additional cases, for the 220,141 total.

In other categories, Illinois also provides aid to the aged, blind and disabled, gives medical assistance in the form of grants and non-grant assistance, which is usually short term help. General assistance differs from other state welfare because it is usually a township, with no dollar input from federal sources.

Since the bulk of Illinois welfare payments are made in the aid to families with dependent children category, it is only in this area that figures are readily available. In May of this year, Illinois is currently sixth among the top 10 most populous states, in the amounts of such aid. Last year, Illinois received 5 per cent of total living increases in aid payments went into effect. Prior to those, the average AFDC payment to a family of four — one adult and three children — in the highest rent district of the state (which includes Cook County and Chicago) was $288, a figure which rose to $317 after the second 5 per cent increase in January. (This would compare to $273 and $300 respectively in the central part of the state, and $281 and $287 before and after the increases, for the south-east part, where rents are far lower.)

Since Illinois is currently in the midst of a financial dilemma which led the governor to request all agencies to cut their budgets 6 per cent, across the board, and since many departments failed to do so, the governor has been asking some hands out of various budgets and the process is not yet complete. Therefore, no one including the Bureau of the Budget knows for sure what the final Illinois budget for this current fiscal year will be.

However, Brad Leonard, deputy director of the Bureau of the Budget, says a "rough estimate" of $10.4 billion will probably be right, for the total state budget for the current fiscal year.

In the last couple of years, Leonard says, 33 to 34 per cent of the state's total general revenue funds go to public aid. However, public aid accounted for only 30 per cent of the total budget last year, and is scheduled to require only about 17 per cent of the current fiscal budget. The difference lies in a political method of figuring the total budget which includes capital development and requires the state to keep re-appropriating certain funds if they are not expended, on a long project, during any given fiscal year.

Illinois has not had any significant public welfare scandals. A year or so ago there were some widely published sweeping charges of violations in the Medicaid section, which some legislators claimed represented as much as $400 million in phony charges. However, the governor named a task force which investigated the charges and came to the conclusion there was not "massive overutilization," under which doctors provided, and charged for, treatments and medications that the recipients didn't need.

Eventually, 22 medical providers — doctors, dentists, pharmacists and the like, were directed to repay to the state something over $200,000. Which is, as Pierce says, "a minimal amount."

The 22 were named after an audit was completed on 24 of 28 accounting groups, and 117,704 records had been inspected. An appeals process was set up under which the 22 can fight returning any or all of the amounts involved, and so far, nothing further appears to have been done.

River cruise by Chamber women

The Women's Division of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce enjoyed a summer picnic aboard Dr. Felicia Koch's boat, the Albatross, on Sunday afternoon.

The vessel, captained by Bob Koch, left Harbor Point for a four-hour cruise, traveling up the Mississippi River.

Miss Dorothy Davis, Women's Division president, announced that the next business meeting will be held Sept. 11, at which time election of officers for 1975-76 will be held.

The Chamber year begins Oct. 1.

Members enjoying the cruise included Mesdames Irma Res, Rosemary Baseden, Jackie Abrams, Kay Pomeroy, Bonnie Sullivan, Jo Meyer, Janet Partney, Marti Kisser, Mary Jesse, Lois Winter, Emylee Alford and Mary Blankenship.

Also aboard were Richard and Mickey (Koch) Bollani of St. Louis County, Joe Koch, Earl Stephens of St. Louis and Mrs. Cleona Dowell and daughter, Rebecca Jayne, of Paducah, Ky.

Shower honors former resident

Mrs. Margaret Wilmsig and Mrs. Phyllis Weiss were honored Sunday afternoon at a baby shower honoring Mrs. Shelly Parker of Blue Springs, Mo., the former Shelly Weiss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Weiss of Granite City.

Guests gathered at the Third Baptist Church, 20th Street and Grand Avenue, where games were played and refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The gift table was centered with a small rocking chair holding Raggedy Ann and Andy rag dolls, the favorite toys of the guest of honor as a child.

A ceramic basket containing flowers was the focal point on the refreshment table, and photoalbum in yellow and white pots, which decorated the guest tables, later were given as prizes.

Receiving the plants as awards were Louise Thompson, Babe Jenkins, Lodie Toney, Cindy Varwig and Helen Todd.

Also present were Edith Ryan, Martha Konsek, Irma Taylor, Bernice Johanningmeier, Juanita Stok, Mildred Talley, Helen Todoroff, Melba Tarpoff, Nancy Ropac, Mina Tarpoff, Mary Ropac, Mildred Meehan, Bess Weiss, Teresa Crews and Jackie Smith of Belleville.

Local homemakers attend camp event

Eight members of the Granite City Unit, Madison County Homemakers Extension Association, traveled to Jacksonville Thursday to spend the day at the annual homemakers camp.

Accompanied by Mrs. Vola Scrivner, a guest, the unit members attending were Mesdames Helen Oberlin, Mary Kastelic, Kathryn Todoroff, Lucille Sobczak, Marge Schick, Virginia Seaver and Madge Ramsey.

The women were enjoyed throughout the day, including quilting and making warp baskets and bead bracelets.

Units from Madison County comprised the largest contingent to spend the day at the Jacksonville camp this summer, it was announced.

Pack 19 honors retired custodian

William Jones, retired custodian from Washington Grade School, was presented a fishing tackle box by Cub Pack 19, sponsored by Washington PTA, at an informal pack meeting held last week in Wilson Park.

Joe Williams, Pack 19 institutional representative, made the presentation on behalf of the pack members, noting the assistance afforded by the recent retiree to the Cub Scout group over past years.

Cubmaster John Huber opened the meeting by leading the pledge of allegiance. He awarded certificates to the boys, who later roasted wieners and marshmallows.

A scavenger hunt and races were staged to conclude the event.

Two injured in I-55 accident

Gene Thomas, 30, of MORA, La., was admitted to St. Elizabeth Hospital at 4:10 a.m. Sunday suffering a cut to the top of his head. Homer Arndt, 51, of Plattville, Mo., was treated and released from the hospital at 4:15 a.m. Sunday.

The two men were injured on Interstate 55, two miles north of Illinois Route 143, when their vehicles collided in the north bound lane.

A camper Arndt was driving burned.

The auto driven by Thomas was allegedly parked on the shoulder, with lights out when the accident occurred, state police said.

Off-duty officer alerts police; two are arrested

The alertness of an off-duty police officer of St. Louis led to the arrest here early Saturday morning of a 20-year-old Pontoon Beach youth and a juvenile as suspects in a service station burglary.

Authorities here said that Carl Fortner, of the St. Louis Police Department, notified Granite City police when he saw what he believed to be two persons inside Ralph's Tunes, 2200 Madison Ave., at 1:30 a.m. Saturday. Fortner told local police he also heard breaking glass as he was driving by the station.

Police said the two had fled the station when officers arrived, but the suspect was seen by several citizens who had been aroused by barking dogs.

The witnesses gave officers descriptions of the pair. The two were found a short time later in a foyer at 2207 Iowa St.

Police arrested James V. Riggs, 20, of 4140 Division St., Lot 5, Pontoon Beach, and a juvenile. They were charged with burglary. The juvenile was turned over to juvenile authorities.

Parents group plans program

A dinner, dance and family activities workshop will highlight this month's activities of the Eastside Chapter of Parents Without Partners.

The dinner and activities will be held from 9:45 a.m. to 1 a.m., Saturday, Aug. 9, at the Gillespie (Ill.) Municipal Building.

Dinner costs $3.50, and the dance $3. There are other activity charges. Tickets for all activities cost $10.50 in advance and $11 at the door.

Delayed report on 2nd quarter

Post Corporation said Friday at Appleton, Wis., that publication of its second quarter and first half earnings is being delayed because of a computer program error at a subsidiary, All-Star Insurance Corp.

Because of the error, some business has not been billed to customers, a spokesman said. He estimated it will take about a week for employees to manually search the files and compute how much business has not been billed.

Meanwhile, Post's directors on Friday declared a regular quarterly dividend of 14 cents per share, payable Sept. 30 to shareholders of record Sept. 16.

Scott seeks 'sincere' image

By KEN WATSON

SPRINGFIELD — At Gen. William J. Scott is deeply concerned about what he feels are questions raised about his sincerity.

Always considered in political circles as something of a loner, Scott keeps most of his thoughts and worries to himself. The nature of his office, chief law-enforcement officer for the state, requires a certain reticence on behalf of the holder.

A prosecutor has to be careful that he does not publicly divulge in advance information that should properly be withheld for use as evidence before a grand jury and subsequent trial of an accused.

Scott's situation has become especially sensitive in recent months since he has been considered as the most likely Republican candidate for governor in 1978.

His sudden announcement just a few days in advance of a giant fund-raising dinner at Chicago, that he would not be a candidate for governor next year but would seek a third term as attorney general instead, angered many GOP loyalists including some who had bought dinner tickets on the assumption they were taking an early stand behind a governor candidate.

The withdrawal from the governor picture followed by a few weeks a wave of press and editorial criticism of Scott for telling a news conference that the administration of Democratic Gov. Daniel Walker was "heavy with scandal," but failing to back up his comments with specific legal actions.

Scott appears genuinely concerned that his comments about Walker and pending investigations by his office were taken by many as purely political moves to advance his assumed gubernatorial ambitions.

He insists privately as well as publicly that they were not. The comments on Walker were spontaneous and resulted from a line of questioning raised by a reporter who had learned of some investigative moves initiated by the attorney general's office.

In a subsequent press conference Scott confirmed that his office is taking significant legal actions concerning reports of wrongdoing in connection with operation of the Illinois State Fair.

There has been a widespread assumption in political circles that Scott backs away from the governor's race because of his sudden adverse publicity.

But it is more likely that he is stepping aside in order to jeopardize the chances of obtaining court convictions in what could turn out to be some major criminal as well as civil trials involving the Walker administration.

With Scott in the governor picture defense attorneys could sway juries with arguments that the trials were being held to further the political ambitions of the attorney general.

A similar situation is already causing problems for famed U.S. Atty. James R. Thompson of Chicago, who has advanced to political prominence as a result of his successful prosecution of a number of prominent Illinois political figures including former Gov. Otto Kerner.

Thompson has compiled a brilliant and productive record of convictions at Chicago. But some in the legal profession point to a sudden decline in the conviction rate since Thompson himself became a potential candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

BeDeil directs association for retarded

William M. BeDeil, Alton, has accepted the position of executive director of the Madison County Association for Retarded Citizens, it was announced by L. H. Laird, president of the association.

In making the announcement, Laird said, "Mr. BeDeil will be directing the current programs and developing new services for the mentally retarded for the county."

Currently, the association sponsors two pre-school centers — one center at the Elm Street Presbyterian Church, 101 West Elm Street in Alton, and the other center will move, as of Aug. 13, to the Central Christian Church, 2020 Johnson Road in Granite City.

This move was precipitated by the increase in pre-school enrollment from the Quad Cities area and the need for a larger facility. When the fall sessions begin the two centers will serve over fifty children from all areas of Madison County.

BAND PARENTS TO MEET TUESDAY AT NORTH HIGH

Granite City North High Band Parents will hold their initial meeting of the 1975-76 school year at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the school library, Harold Stoker, president, said today.

Parents of band students and pom-pom girls are being urged to attend and hear program plans for the coming year. Stoker advised.

GC man hurt

Robert Ford, 22, of 1728 Cleveland Blvd., is in serious condition at Firmin Desloge Hospital after he apparently was struck in the head by a car shortly before midnight Saturday at Kirkpatrick Homes.

Police, responding to a call, reported they found Ford lying on the lawn at 3408 Kirkpatrick with a cut to the top of his head. He was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital in a dazed condition and transferred to Firmin Desloge Hospital, St. Louis.

A club was found at the scene, police said.

Officers said that although nearly 100 people were around when they arrived, no one would offer information, claiming they did not want to get involved.

HEATING WITH ELECTRIC COVE HEATERS

Electric cove heaters are an inconspicuous, out-of-the-way source of radiant electric heat. They are usually installed at the junction of walls and ceiling, thus using no floor space.

Like electric baseboards, cove heaters provide gentle warmth, radiating directly to people. Individual room thermostats give precise temperature control. Their operation is practically silent.

And like all electric heating systems, cove heaters require no venting, no outside fuel supply and almost no maintenance. Their space-conserving feature makes them efficient for mobile homes, smaller homes, apartments and supplemental heating.

For complete information about electric heat for your home or business, ask the Energy Use Advisor at our office.
